

Drug Abuse Seminar Proposed To Address Parent Concerns

To meet increasing parental concern about the abuse of drugs and alcohol by youngsters, the Vienna Police Department is planning a free seminar designed to educate parents on the causes of drug abuse, services available and early detection of drug involvement. The seminar will include films, literature and discussion by a panel of experts to help parents cope with this problem.

The seminar will be held at Town Hall two evenings in November for a total of four hours. At least 75 persons must express interest in the program before further plans can be made. If you are interested, please call the Public Information Office at Town Hall, 938-8000, ext. 224.

Fall Cleanup Reminder

The town-wide Fall Cleanup begins October 15. Residents should take advantage of this opportunity to have unwanted items picked up free of charge, because on January 1 the fee for special pickups will be raised from $10 to $20 to meet increasing disposal costs.

October at Freeman House

Vienna's historic Freeman House will be open each Saturday in October from noon until 5 p.m. Take a step into the town's past at this old-fashioned general store and museum. A special feature this month is an exhibit of sketches of the W&OD trail by artist Paul Worboys.

Freeman House, located at the corner of Church and Mill Streets, N.E., is also open every Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., and during October and November local craftsmen will give demonstrations.

Sunday Craft Demonstrations Scheduled

On October 14, Dorothy Albert will demonstrate how to make silk flowers. Dorothy is a member of the Northern Virginia Handcrafters Guild and teaches flower making through Fairfax County.

Sally Francis will demonstrate spinning on October 21. Sally has given demonstrations throughout the Washington area and also works with Girl Scouts, teaching them about spinning, dyeing and weaving.

On November 4, members of the year-old Ecclesiastical Embroiders Guild will demonstrate silk and gold embroidery. The group meets at Vienna Presbyterian Church to work on pieces commissioned by ecclesiastical organizations. Sara Hamilton, founder of the guild, has done restoration work at the National Cathedral.

Do You Know These Children?

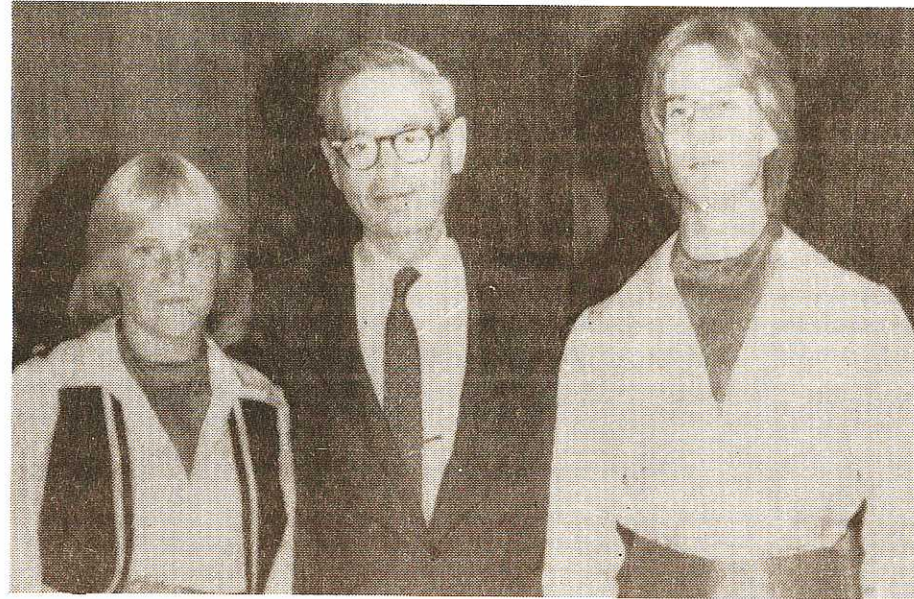

If you are a long-time Vienna resident or know someone who lived here around the turn of the century, you may be interested in a photograph hanging just inside the front door of Freeman House that shows Vienna Elementary School students of 1909. Historic Vienna would like your help in identifying these children.

Band to Paint House Numbers

Members of the James Madison High School Band have started work on a project to paint house numbers on curbs and mailboxes throughout Vienna. The Town Council has officially endorsed the project and donated paint.

The band decided to undertake the painting after reading an article in the September Newsletter, which stressed the importance of having clearly visible house numbers in case of an emergency.

Numbers will be painted on the curb in front of each house, or on the mailbox where there is no curb. Participation by homeowners is voluntary and band members will ask permission before they paint. Contributions to the band will be accepted but are not required.

Mayor Robinson wishes Madison band members Debbie Reid and Scott Henry success in the band's house number painting project. Scott, vice president of the band, and Debbie, one of the flag girls, appeared before Council to explain the project, and received town endorsement and a supply of paint.

Cable TV Hearing Planned

At its October 1 meeting, the Town Council will set the date for a public hearing concerning cable television in Vienna. The hearing will probably be held later this month, perhaps October 22 or October 29. Look for announcements in local newspapers or call the Vienna Newsliner, 938-4499, following the October 1 meeting.

The main issue for discussion at the hearing will be whether Vienna should adopt its own cable TV franchise ordinance or participate in a franchise granted by Fairfax County. Towns are legally empowered to grant franchises, but the county staff has pointed out that it may be difficult to attract a cable operator to a small area like Vienna. The county has proposed to bear all administrative costs and pass along to the town a proportionate share of revenues, if Vienna elects to be included in a county franchise.

Council wants to be sure that the town's best interests are served and protected in this matter. Citizens and potential Vienna cable TV operators are encouraged to attend the hearing and make their views known.

Halloween Parade October 24

The 33rd annual Invitational Halloween Parade, co-sponsored by the Vienna Chamber of Commerce and the Vienna Jaycees, will be held on Wednesday, October 24 (rain date October 25). The parade will begin promptly at 7 p.m.

In keeping with the parade's futuristic theme of "Halloween 2079," the grand marshal and emcee will be "Captain 20" from WDCA-TV. Many cartoon characters will be on hand for the kids, including Woodsy Owl, Smokey Bear, Scooby Doo, Yogi Bear, Big Bird, Cookie Monster and Hush Puppy.

This year, the parade will also be highlighted by many high school bands. Of course, colorful floats, marching units and military brigades are part of the parade.

The parade will step off at Branch Road and Maple Avenue and move down Maple to Courthouse Road. The units will turn left at Magruder's and left again on Locust to Waters Field where the parade will disband.

Fred Regar is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce parade committee, which is responsible for selecting parade entries. Questions about the parade should be directed to the Chamber at 281-1333.
