Public Hearing January 22 On Proposal to Open Church St.

A public hearing on the proposed opening of Church Street between Lawyers Road and Pleasant Street will be held by the Town Planning Commission on Wednesday, January 22, at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber at Town Hall. This hearing is pursuant to a Town Council request that both the Planning Commission and Transportation Safety Commission study the impacts on traffic flow and adjacent properties that opening the street might create.

Following the Planning Commission hearing, the matter will be referred to the Transportation Safety Commission to review any safety related problems. The matter will then be returned to the Town Council for consideration. All interested citizens are invited to attend the hearing to express their views about the proposed opening.

At the request of the Planning Commission, the Town's traffic consultant has prepared a technical memorandum that a) estimates traffic volume that will be generated by the Windover Building (the professional office building recently built on the Church Street extension east of Pleasant Street); b) analyzes the need for traffic signals at the Lawyers/Church and Maple Avenue/Pleasant intersections; and c) considers the impact of making Church (Lawyers to Pleasant) and Pleasant (Lovers Lane to Maple) one way or two way.

The traffic consultant's initial recommendation is that Church Street not be opened until "the street direction and signalization scheme can be integrated into a more comprehensive plan for traffic circulation on the major streets of the community." The report is available for review in the Planning Office at Town Hall.

The question of whether Church Street should be opened was a key

Town Recommends Changes In Metro Feeder Bus Routes

Town residents who plan to ride the bus to the Vienna or Dunn Loring Metro station when they open in June are urged to attend a public hearing at Oakton High School on Thursday, January 16, at 7:30 p.m. The hearing is being held by the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) to receive citizen comment on the proposed changes in bus service and fares to take place when the Metrorail Orange Line is extended from Ballston to Vienna.

Town Asks for Modifications

At the hearing, Mayor Charles Robinson will present the Town's position in favor of a feeder bus system designed to provide morning and evening rush-hour service to residents in all sections of town. He will oppose WMATA's plan to reduce rush-hour service on the 2X route by decreasing the frequency of buses from 20 to 30 minutes. He will also seek solid assurance from WMATA that 31-foot buses will be assigned to the proposed Vienna routes. These shorter buses would not impact residential neighborhoods as heavily as the longer buses now in the WMATA fleet.

The Town Council adopted this position at its December 16 meeting based on the recommendations of its traffic consultant, Steven R. Shapiro, who has been working with WMATA, the Fairfax County Office of Transportation, and Town staff in developing the system. Council members hope that as many town residents as possible will attend the hearing and lend their support to Council's decision and recommendation.

Citizens Urged to Attend

Citizens who wish to speak at the January 16 hearing must sign up by January 9. Send your name, address, telephone number and organizational affiliation, if any, to: Mr. Fairfax McCandlish, Public Hearing Assistant, Office of the General Manager, Wash-

Alice Roe of the Vienna Woman's Club presents the club's 1985 Policeman of the Year award to Corporal Robert H. Clouser. An 18-year veteran of the Vienna Police Department, Cpl. Clouser was honored for his integrity and sense of justice, his excellent reputation among his peers, and the hundreds of hours of his own time spent conducting investigations.

W. Gordon Brady

The Town of Vienna was saddened by the death of W. Gordon Brady in November. He had served as Director of Finance for over 20 years.

Mr. Brady was born in Herndon and graduated from Fairfax High School and Benjamin Franklin University in Washington, D.C. Before coming to work in Vienna, he was Director of Finance in Fairfax City and an internal auditor for Arlington County Schools.

Mr. Brady was Vienna's first Director of Finance. He developed a sound accounting system for the Town at a difficult time in its financial history and was always recognized as a person of unquestioned integrity.

A very active Mason, Mr. Brady participated in many Vienna Halloween Parades as a member of the Shriners Drum and Bugle Corps.

Survivors include his wife Peachy, their two daughters, and his many friends in Vienna. Memorial contributions may be made to Dranesville United Methodist Church.

West Virginian Says Thanks to Vienna

Vienna residents and businesses have made generous contributions to assist flood victims in West Virginia. One native West Virginian who now lives on Windover Avenue, N.W., has expressed his gratitude on behalf of those receiving aid, many of whom he knows personally. "Words can't describe my thanks and feelings for Vienna," he said. "I am proud to be a resident of this town."

I-66 Construction Provides Access to Metro

Construction is underway to provide access to the Vienna Metro station parking lots from the west via Route I-66.

This is the first of a two-phase project. A four-lane bridge under the first-phase construction will allow access between the Metro parking lots on either side of I-66. The bridge will also include a sidewalk and a bike path.

During this first phase, the Virginia Department of Highways and Transportation is widening Country Creek Road to connect with an access road provided by Metro. The access roads will link the north and south parking lots to Nutley Street. Eastbound I-66 motorists will have direct access to the parking lots from a ramp under construction, tying into the Metro south access road. A ramp north of I-66 will allow motorists to exit from the Metro north parking lots to I-66 westbound.

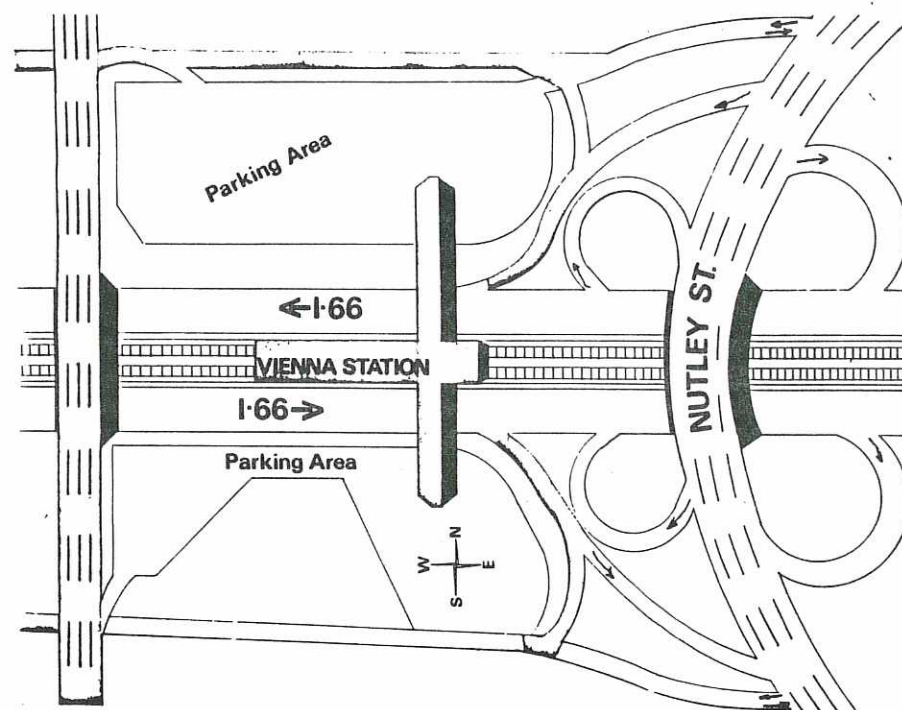

Phase two of construction will provide for traffic access to Nutley from I-66 in all directions. Nutley will be widened outside the town limits from four lanes to six and will be relocated westward to line up with existing Nutley Street on the south side of Lee Highway.

Business Person, Citizen of 1985

Hector Allen, Vienna's former Director of Public Works, has been named Citizen of the Year for 1985 by the Greater Vienna Chamber of Commerce. He was honored for serving as Acting Town Manager from January to April 1985.

Mayor Charles Robinson described Allen as a truly great public official and a man of enormous integrity, reliability, capacity to work with people, and a huge measure of common sense.

The Chamber also presented John Koons, Jr., with the 1985 Business Person of the Year award, recognizing his many years of support for Vienna's youth sports teams and other community organizations.

Pets Need Special Winter Care

Your Town Animal Warden reminds residents that pets need special protection at this time of year.

If your dog spends most of the day outdoors, build him a draft-free, water-tight doghouse of the proper size. It should be no more than 12 inches longer and 3 inches higher than the standing dog, because he cannot produce enough body heat to warm a house that is too large. The house should be raised off the ground and insulated. Avoid blankets, rugs and towels that hold moisture and freeze in the cold.

Plans for a doghouse are available free from the Fairfax County Animal Shelter. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the shelter, 4500 W. Ox Rd., Fairfax, VA 22030.

Shorter daylight hours cause an increase in the number of animals hit by cars. Many are hit during rush-hour traffic, which now begins and ends in darkness. Drivers whose visibility may be impaired by the rising or setting sun often never see an animal wander into the road until it is too late to stop. For the sake of your pet and the driver, confine your pet at home or walk him on a leash.

Antifreeze is deadly to pets. Be sure to dispose of old or unused antifreeze properly and thoroughly wash down any area where it has spilled. Cats and dogs are attracted to the liquid's sweet taste, and even a few licks can kill an animal.

Does your pet have a current rabies vaccination? A low-cost vaccination clinic for dogs and cats will be held at the County Animal Shelter on February 23. Look for details in next month's Newsletter.

REMINDER — January 31 is the deadline to purchase 1986 Town dog tags. For information, call the Finance Department, 938-8000 ext. 221.

Used Motor Oil Is Recyclable

Residents who change their own car oil can dispose of used oil properly at full-service gas stations in Vienna identified by the used oil logo. These stations will accept waste oil in metal containers or clean plastic jugs.

For a list of participating service stations, call the Fairfax County Office of Energy at 691-2315.

Fairfax County began the oil recycling program over six years ago in cooperation with the Northern Virginia Service Station Dealers Association and the Virginia Office of Energy Services. The program allows used oil to be re-refined or reprocessed into heating or quality motor oil, or used as stock for other petroleum-based products.

Used motor oil poured in yards, streams, sewers, or placed in trash cans can eventually pollute water supplies. It is estimated that over 4.4 million gallons of waste oil are disposed of improperly each year in Virginia — 200,000 gallons in Fairfax County alone. As little as one quart of oil, when dispersed in water, can contaminate up to two million gallons of drinking water.

Dumping oil on vacant land or in storm sewers is illegal, and violators can be held liable for the cost of cleanup and be subject to civic penalties. Don't waste a dwindling resource — recycle.

Permit Parking Back on Agenda

The proposed residential permit parking ordinance will be back on the agenda at the January 6 Town Council meeting. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at Town Hall.

The ordinance has been redrafted to incorporate comments received from citizens at the October 21 public hearing. Copies of the ordinance are available in the Town Clerk's office.

If adopted, the ordinance would allow streets to be designated for permit parking in order to eliminate commuter parking and preserve the residential character of the neighborhood. All parking would be prohibited during set weekday hours, except for the residents, their guests, and others having business there, who would be issued parking permits by the Town. To qualify for permit parking, 75% of the parking space on a street must be occupied by commuter vehicles on weekdays, and average over 25% during a month. A public hearing would be required before any street could be designated for permit parking.

element in negotiations during 1972 for placement of the Post Office near the Lawyers/Church intersection. In 1975, the Town Manager was authorized to proceed with acquisition of the necessary right-of-way for the extension of Church Street from Lawyers to Pleasant. In July 1976, the Planning Commission and Transportation Safety Commission jointly recommended to the Town Council that, under stipulated conditions and restrictions, Church Street be extended from the Post Office property line to Pleasant Street. Council subsequently decided not to complete the extension.

A 1966 Town Newsletter reported: "The Wolftrap Creek section of Maple Avenue was completed as a joint Town-State project. This project included a new four-lane bridge and approximately two blocks of new street."

"The Town is acquiring the right-of-way necessary for the widening to four lanes of the remainder of the east end of Maple Avenue to the Town limits. This project, when completed, will extend from Park Street to Tysons Corner."

Stay Warm and Safe This Winter

In an attempt to stay warm, many people unintentionally cause fires in their homes. Be sure that any device you use for alternative heating is safe. If there is any question, have the device checked by a manufacturer's approved service company. Buy and use only those devices that are listed by testing laboratories such as Factory Mutual or Underwriters Laboratories. Use only as described in the manufacturer's instructions.

Space heaters and wood stoves need space. Keep anything that will burn at least 36 inches away from these devices. This includes furniture, curtains, clothing — and people.

If you plan to use a fireplace or wood stove, have the chimney inspected at least once each heating season and have it cleaned if necessary. Many winter fires are caused by an accumulation of creosote in the chimney or from having too hot a fire for too long. The latter is a result of trying to heat the whole house, instead of one room, with a fireplace or wood stove.

For more information on the safe installation and use of alternative heating devices, call the Fairfax County Mechanical Inspectors Office, 691-3361, or the Fire and Rescue Department's Public Affairs Section, 691-3366.

ington, D.C. 20001, or call 962-1092. Each speaker will be limited to five minutes.

Under the bus routing proposed by WMATA in the public hearing docket, residents in the town and immediate vicinity would be provided service to Metro stations via a 2X/2P route to run between the Dunn Loring and Vienna stations. The Town is recommending modifications of this routing that would maintain service to areas in the WMATA proposal, but would add service to the Beulah Road and Westbriar areas. In both the WMATA and Town proposals, the 2C route would provide all-day service between Tysons Corner and the Ballston station. (The 2X/2P will provide rush-hour service only.) The Chain Bridge Road Line (Routes 5K,L,M) will provide service to the Rosslyn and Farragut Square stations.

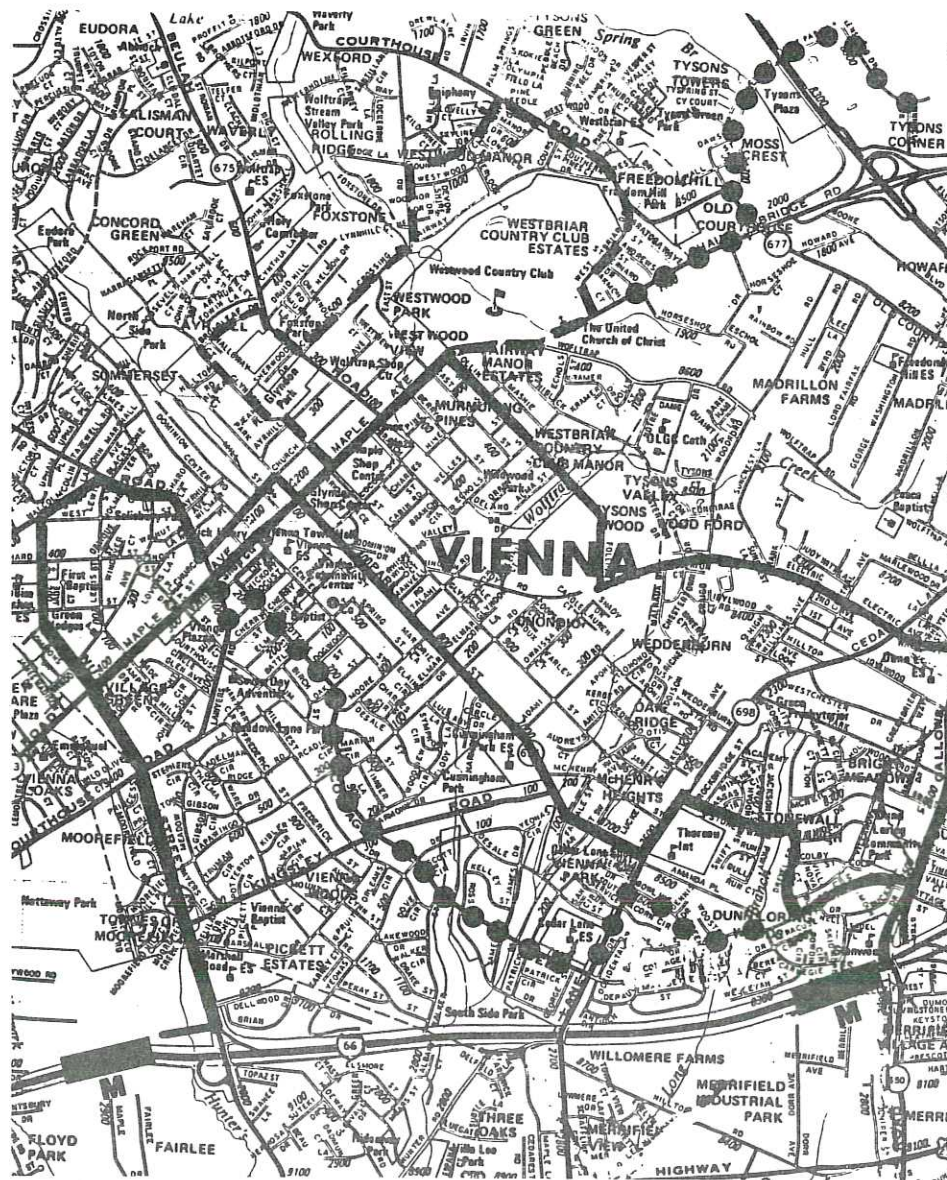

Proposals Subject to Change

As stated in the WMATA docket, the various route and fare proposals are not final "and are subject to change in response to testimony received during the WMATA public hearing process and local jurisdiction review." It is for this reason that the Town Council feels it is so important for Vienna residents to make their views known during the hearing process. (The hearing at Oakton High School is the closest to Vienna; others will be held in Falls Church and Reston.)

The complete docket for service changes and fare adjustments to complement extension of the Orange Line to Vienna may be examined in the Planning Office at Town Hall. Maps of the routes proposed by WMATA and the Town's proposed modifications of those routes are also available for review.

Bus Service Critical

Feeder bus service to the two Metro stations is a critical feature of the Town traffic study, which began last summer. Council assigned planning for this service as the traffic consultant's first and highest priority task,

Route 2C ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ●

Proposed WMATA Route 2X/2P —————

Proposed Town Modification 2X/2P - - - - -

with the conviction that an efficient feeder bus system for the town is indispensable to help ease traffic congestion when the Metro stations open. As part of that planning, the Town conducted a feeder bus survey through the November Newsletter. The results indicated widespread resident interest in bus service, principally to the Vienna station. Slightly more than 60% of respondents who plan to ride Metrorail to work said they would ride a feeder bus to either the Vienna or Dunn Loring station.

Assembly Updates

Daily access to Virginia General Assembly legislative information is available free to the public through a Fairfax County Public Library.

Outstanding Young Citizens

The Vienna Jaycees recently honored five outstanding young men and women for their contributions to the Vienna community throughout the past year.

Daniel A. Marcey was honored as Outstanding Young Police Officer. A member of the Vienna Police Department for 12 years, his quick thinking has averted tragedy many times, and he has received numerous awards and letters of commendation.

John S. "Pete" Kirby was selected Outstanding Young Fireman. He is a member of the Fairfax Fire and Rescue Service and has put in hundreds of hours of volunteer time to further community programs in fire prevention.

Honored as Outstanding Educators was a team of two special education teachers, Karen A. Morrison and Virginia Roach. Working with mildly retarded children at Vienna Elementary School, they have implemented programs and given of themselves far beyond the requirements of the job.

The Outstanding Young Citizen for 1985 is Tim Woolsey. A teacher at Vienna Elementary, he is described as an excellent motivator of children. He also supports many local children's sports teams and clubs.

Vienna Pianist Represents U.S.

Pianist Marjorie Lee, of Adahi Road, S.E., has been named a U.S. Artistic Ambassador to represent the American government overseas in 1986.

Under the program, America's most talented pianists not yet under professional management are sent abroad as "musical ambassadors" to help promote international understanding. Since the program began in 1982, 11 pianists have been sent to 38 countries, including the Soviet Union and China.

Marjorie Lee has won several international piano competitions and has performed at the National Gallery, Phillips Collection, Kennedy Center, Avery Fisher Hall, Carnegie Hall and Wolf Trap. She is a recipient of the Music Teachers National Association's Master Teacher Certificate and maintains a private studio with her husband Kenneth, who teaches clarinet.

Police Captain Joe Higgs accepts a Virginia Pedestrian Safety Award from Governor Charles Robb on behalf of the Town of Vienna. The award, presented annually by the American Automobile Association and the State Division of Motor Vehicles, recognizes jurisdictions throughout Virginia that have had no pedestrian deaths in which the driver was charged. Vienna's award was for four years without such a pedestrian fatality.
