Citizen Comment

Reuse Is the Best Way to Recycle

An Olympian Circle resident reminds us that reuse is the best form of recycling:

I was told that a harvested tree will yield only six standard grocery shopping bags. If this has even some truth to it, my wife and I have saved dozens of trees over the last two years simply by reusing these bags.

At least one supermarket chain in the area encourages reuse of bags by charging a small fee for bags, and others encourage recycling of plastic bags. The best method is for consumers themselves to reuse voluntarily both types of bags.

We have found that one brown bag, when placed within a plastic grocery bag for support, can be reused several times. Two brown bags together will also last, if transported by holding them underneath when loaded with groceries.

If everyone would carry a supply of folded bags (within one bag with handles) to the supermarket with them, we all would be taking a very direct step in preserving the environment. The best form of recycling is direct reuse. When the bags finally do wear out or become stained, they can still be recycled.

Tax Relief Available for Low-income Senior Citizens and Disabled Residents

Both the Town of Vienna and Fairfax County offer tax relief for low-income residents aged 65 and over and for low-income residents who are permanently and totally disabled. To qualify for exemptions from real estate, personal property and automobile registration taxes, citizens must meet the following requirements:

- Gross income of no more than $30,000. This is the total combined income, from all sources, of homeowner and spouse and any relatives living at home. The first $6,500 of income of each relative is excluded from the total. Also excluded is the first $7,500 of any income received by the homeowner as permanent disability compensation. Where the total combined income is between $30,000 and $35,000, a 50% tax relief is given, and between $35,000 and $40,000 a 25% tax relief.

- Financial net worth of no more than $150,000. This is the total combined assets of the homeowner and spouse (for example, property other than the residence, bank accounts, stocks and bonds) minus the total combined liabilities (debts). Excluded from the assets is the value of the home and land up to one acre, and household furnishings.

- Disabled applicants must provide medical documentation of a disability.

Low-income elderly and disabled citizens who rent their homes are eligible to receive a rental grant from Fairfax County. The amount of the grant is determined by a formula based on rent and income. Qualifications are the same as for tax exemptions.

For more information on Town tax relief, call 255-6325. For information on Fairfax County tax relief and rental grants, call 246-2437.

Over-40 "Golden Girls" Getting Ready For Opening of New Softball Season

Vienna area women over 40 years old are invited to play softball and enjoy each other's company as members of the Golden Girls Senior Women's Softball Association. This three-year old organization currently has a roster of about 90 women ranging in age from 40 to 75 and in skill level from novice to expert.

Golden Girl Donna Packard says over-40 women's softball is for those who want to play "without having to compete with the men on coed teams or with the speedy young things in the standard women's leagues."

Activities are available year-round. Winter warm-up sessions are devoted to getting or staying in shape through flex and stretch exercises and softball skill drills. Intra-league play is held throughout the summer and fall.

In addition to regular games, special teams are formed during the year to participate in various senior tournaments. Last year, the Golden Girls brought home championship trophies from four regional/national tournaments, including the Senior Olympics in Syracuse, New York.

Outdoor spring training begins next month in several Vienna parks, so call Hazel at 534-8116 for membership information.

Fire Department Wants Citizens To Be Prepared

The volunteer members of the Vienna Volunteer Fire Department and career members of Fairfax County are concerned about the increase in residential fires in the Vienna area.

There have been four very significant home fires in the last several months. These fires caused serious injuries and substantial damage; any of them could have been fatal.

Your Fire Department urges all citizens to review the following fire safety measures (a couple of which have been the cause of recent fires), plan an escape route in case of fire, and be sure smoke detectors will operate when necessary.

- Check and clean chimneys, especially if you use a wood-burning stove.
- Clear roof and gutters of leaves and debris if you use a fireplace or wood stove.
- Place ashes only in a metal container outside the house and away from anything combustible.
- Remove any flammable liquids from inside the home.
- Check cords on electrical appliances and have them repaired if they are cracked, frayed or bare.
- Use space heaters only if they have safety switches and properly working thermostats.
- Clear the area around space heaters and heat lamps of any combustibles.

● Do not place smoking materials or ashes in with trash until you make sure they are out and cold.

● Do not use any kind of barbecue grill indoors. Along with the fire hazard, there is a serious carbon monoxide hazard.

● Store charcoal outdoors and away from moisture.

● Keep matches and lighters away from children.

● Do not wear loose clothing while cooking.
