

Attention Vienna Organizations! 1998 Calendar Deadline Sept. 2

Non-profit Vienna organizations are invited to submit information about their 1998 community events for next year's Town Calendar. Items should be addressed to the Public Information Office, Vienna Town Hall, 127 Center St., S., Vienna, VA 22180. The deadline for submissions is Tuesday, September 2. For more information, call the Public Information Office at 255-6330.

This Month in History

from the Vienna Newsletter archives

AUGUST 1987 — The Town budget for fiscal year 1987-88 includes funds for a new department combining the functions of the Planning and Zoning Offices. The director will coordinate operations and lend expertise to both functions. Two planning employees will analyze submissions for development and provide recommendations on strengthening development policies. Two zoning inspectors will be assigned solely to the enforcement of Town Code regulations, and an additional clerical position will speed assistance to citizens requesting information.

AUGUST 1977 — The Town of Vienna has won the 1977 Virginia Municipal League's "I Wish I Had Thought of That" Award for its Metrobus shelter program. The original prototype for the shelters, actually modeled after a redwood birdhouse, was redesigned as a public service by the local architectural firm of Kohler-Daniels, incorporating citizen suggestions. The shelters were built by the James Madison High School Maintenance and Repair Shop with materials supplied by the Town. Vienna's shelters cost $325 each compared with those of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, which cost about $3,000 to purchase and install.

JULY 1967 — Mayor Jim Martinelli says that as a part of Vienna's "My Kind of Town" campaign, safe and courteous driving habits should be considered attributes every bit as important to an ideal community as cleanliness and beauty, especially regarding speeding and commuter traffic. "Too often, in our haste to reach our destinations, we lose sight of the rights of others on the road to enter, exit, or cross the lane of traffic. Let us all determine in our driving to make Vienna 'our kind of town' for everyone."

Sewer Backup Insurance Available

All insurance companies writing homeowner policies in Virginia offer special coverage for damage resulting from backups of drains and sewers, and this additional protection is available at very reasonable rates. For information on obtaining sewer backup coverage, contact your insurance company.

The Town's insurance carrier rarely approves claims resulting from sewer backups unless negligence in maintaining the system can be shown. Therefore, residents are encouraged to protect their property by obtaining sewer backup insurance.

Fireworks Display Cut Short by Wind

For those who've been wondering about the rather disjointed July 4th fireworks display last month at the Vienna Community Center, gusty winds played havoc with the Town's annual show, causing delays and interruptions, and finally forcing cancellation of a portion of the grand finale.

A representative from the Fairfax County Fire Marshal's Office, who was present at the Community Center grounds during the display, ruled that embers carried by the wind were threatening the safety of spectators and nearby property, and ordered that the fireworks be stopped.

County ordinance prohibits fireworks when winds exceed 15 mph.

“Traffic Calming” — Keep an Open Mind

By Steven D. Briglia
Vienna Town Councilman

comprehensive approach.

In the coming months, the Town Council looks forward to implementing traffic calming measures that will allow people to get to work, drop their children off at school and do their shopping without sitting in gridlock. Some traffic calming measures may be experimental and some may be permanent. Regardless, it is important that Town residents, businesses and our surrounding neighbors keep an open mind to the proposed traffic calming measures.

Many Town of Vienna residents and our neighbors just outside the Town limits have heard about the recent steps that the Town is taking to address the ever growing concern regarding traffic in, through and around the Town. In an effort to identify and focus on specific problems and solutions, the Town Council engaged the services of Ed Tennyson. Mr. Tennyson has extensive experience in traffic and transportation issues and has held five public hearings at the Town Hall, all of which were very well attended.

A comprehensive report has been submitted by Mr. Tennyson that many have now either read or heard about. Mr. Tennyson's report is based upon a compilation of an extraordinary amount of raw information provided by residents, businesses, the police, past Town investigations and discussions, as well as information gathered by him personally. Some residents have become concerned about some of the report's recommendations.

The Town Council recognizes the scope and seriousness of the traffic problems in and around the Town and wants the issue addressed locally and comprehensively. The next step in the process is to allow the Transportation Safety Commission to review Mr. Tennyson's report and then recommend implementation of corrective measures. The Town Council will most likely hold a joint work session with the Transportation Safety Commission and hopefully we will then be able to begin taking steps to alleviate some of the problems created by the enormous amount of traffic coursing through Vienna.

It may seem to some that it would be simple just to dead-end certain streets, make some streets one way, put up (or take down) stop signs, install speed bumps/humps, etc. However, the traffic patterns of Vienna, as well as the people driving the vehicles, are a bit more sophisticated than most realize. The Town will not implement any recommendations without first attempting to ascertain the impact on other neighborhoods. It simply defeats the purpose and intention of this effort to push traffic from one neighborhood to another. The goal is to provide a

Avoid Health Problems by Heeding Color-coded Air Pollution Alerts

Are summer's sweltering days getting you down? It may be more than the heat; it may be the physical effects of ground-level ozone pollution. Daily ground-level ozone forecasts are issued through the local news media by the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments (COG). The forecasts, which are prepared by a team of meteorologists and technical staff from Virginia, Maryland and COG, rank air quality according to colors: Code Green = Good; Code Yellow = Moderate; Code Orange = Approaching Unhealthy; and Code Red = Unhealthy.

When a Code Red alert is issued, the following actions are recommended: Children and the elderly should reduce outdoor activities. Healthy individuals should limit strenuous outdoor work or exercise. Individuals with heart or respiratory ailments, emphysema, asthma, or chronic bronchitis should limit their outdoor activities and if breathing becomes difficult, move indoors.

In addition to the local news media, citizens may obtain the daily forecasts by calling the COG Air Quality Hotline at (202) 962-3299, or by accessing COG's Homepage at www.mwco.org on the World Wide Web.

Ground-level ozone can cause health problems such as lung damage, eye irritation, breathing difficulties, coughing and chest pain. On a typical summer day, about 60 to 70 percent of the pollutants that cause ozone are created by cars, lawnmowers and other gasoline-powered garden equipment, oil-based paints, and common household products.

During ozone alerts, individuals can help keep ozone levels to a minimum by these actions: drive less but if you must drive, combine errands; keep car tuned and tires properly inflated, refuel cars after dusk to limit daytime pollution releases, and limit engine idling as much as possible; take mass transit or carpool; avoid using aerosols and use environmentally safe paints and cleaning products; don't mow your lawn with a gas-powered mower; conserve electricity and set air conditioner thermostats at 78°.
